REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

1. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The primary reason for allowance of claims 61-14 is the inclusion of a method steps of a thermal head that includes contacting said heating element array with an outside of said recording area; causing said heating element array to generate heat at cleaning temperature that is insufficient for said thermal recording material to develop color; and feeding said thermal recording material by a predetermined distance through between said heating element array and a platen, wherein said heating element array is cleaned by use of said thermal recording material. It is these steps found in the claims, as they are claimed in the combination of that has not been found, taught or suggested by the prior art of record, which makes these claims allowable over the prior art.

The primary reason for allowance of claims 15-20 is the inclusion of the limitations of a thermal printer that includes pressing said heating element array against an outside of said recording area; causing said heating element array to generate heat at cleaning temperature that is insufficient for said thermal recording material to develop color; and feeding said thermal recording material by a predetermined distance through between said heating element array and said platen, said heating element array being cleaned by use of said thermal recording material. It is these limitations found in the claims, as they are claimed in the combination of that has not been found, taught or suggested by the prior art of record, which makes these claims allowable over the prior art.

Art Unit: 2861

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Wiklof (WO 93/21020) discloses a thermal transfer ribbon that is provided with a web of a cleaning material, which is used to clean the printhead by light abrasion. Morishima et al. (US 5,143,782) disclose a thermal transfer recording sheet having a base, a heat transferable ink layer formed on one side of the base film and a heat resistant lubricating layer formed on the other side.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
